Yesterday there was a robbery at the Westland Bank. Mr and Mrs Hawkins were outside the bank and they saw the robbers as they ran out. They are witnesses.

Police officer:	Mr and Mrs Hawkins, can you describe the two bank robbers?
Mrs Hawkins:	They had animal-masks, but I'm sure one was a man and the other was a woman.
Mr Hawkins:	The woman was taller than the man.
Mrs Hawkins:	That's right. The man was shorter than the woman.
Mr Hawkins:	Yes, he was a half head shorter. He was small and fat.
Police officer:	What about the woman? Was she fat, too?
Mrs Hawkins:	Well, she wasn't thin. But she wasn't as fat as the man.
Mr Hawkins:	Yes, she was a bit plump (mollig), but the man was fatter.
Police officer:	What colour was their hair and was it short or long?
Mrs Hawkins:	The man's hair was very short and dark. The woman's hair was also short, but a bit longer.
Mr Hawkins:	Yes, her hair wasn't as short as the man's hair and it wasn't dark.
Police officer:	Was her hair blonde?
Mrs Hawkins:	I think so.
Mr Hawkins:	I'm not sure.
